“ We go to a lot of these events and none really match up to SMR. What differentiates it is the quality of attendees that come through the door, which has just got better and better each year - there's been a great job done on screening candidates. For those worried about cost you will make the money back either through hiring, or through building the brand. It's invaluable. We always end up making 3 or 4 hires.

...the free bar is great, the breakfast & lunch is brilliant, and the free ice creams. It's all great

We're big on relevant conversations

We want you to meet the right people! This means targeting the right talent - setting an awesome environment - and making sure you meet face to face...

1. We listen to your hiring needs.
2. We have a database of over 70,000 tech job seekers.
3. We also spread the word through meetups, communities, conferences, events, press and social media.
4. We target and attract candidates based on the job vacancies you post on your company profile.
5. We then select the most relevant candidates by vetting their skills & experience - and only issue tickets to relevant jobseekers.
6. Every one of our events is curated, made by hand, with care and attention to detail - we're the opposite of a big corporate fair that's rolled out each year. It should feel nothing like recruitment and more like meeting a friend in a pub.

...and 18 events later, we know it works!

*established company or bootstrapped?

Established companies are charged a 50% premium. Established means your company/parent company is either: larger than 5,000+ employees OR publicly traded with a market cap over $1 billion. This helps keep the event affordable for smaller companies and so ensures a more diverse event.

We offer a limited number of subsidized spaces for smaller, pre-funded companies via our Bootstrapped Initiative.

whats included?

event space

Our pricing is based on the number of team passes you'd like for the event. With thousands of candidates attending each day, the more team members you'll bring. The more conversations you'll have - and the more hires you can make.

jobs board with unlimited postings

Your company will get a profile on our website, which you can add as many vacancies as you like to. This acts just like a jobs board and is where we direct all of our candidate traffic. It gets thousands of unique visits a day in the lead up and stays live after the event too.

plus you get this:

free bar

chillout room

free coffee

free lunch

creative space

free furniture

free kids workshop

free wifi

so any parents in your team can still get involved next steps?

- select which size space and day/s you'd like, then submit the booking form (takes 2 mins)
- complete your online profile and post as many job opportunities as you like
- get involved on social - promote your company - let people know you'll be there
- we'll send you our exhibitors guide so you can plan your space and prepare your team

🗨️ We made 10 hires at the last event and will keep coming back

nice things teams have said

“ Everytime we’ve been we’ve hired someone. We’ve hired engineering roles for ios and web and we’ve also hired product strategy people.

“ This is a great targeted event

“ We’ve come twice a year, every year, for the past four years - the amount of roles we’ve hired in that time is quite a big list! The people we’ve hired from SMR have done really well, they’ve had great longevity with us.

“ We previously made 7 hires around engineering. It’s a very diverse crowd which is what we’re looking for.

“ It’s great to have such a specific focus of candidates across the day, it makes it really easy to find what we want.

“ Silicon Milkroundabout is a great event, we’ve been coming for 4 years and we’ve always made multiple hires from it. At the last event we hired 2 product managers one mid level one senior and a data engineer which is a really hard skill to find so that was a big win.

“ It’s a really exciting - and it’s really beneficial for the BBC because there are all the right kind of people with the right kind of experience, all in one place
